

Technovation[MN]

Join us! Help girls build a brighter future with tech.

By eighth grade, boys are twice as interested in science, technology, engineering and mathematics as girls. Girls need encouragement in these disciplines collectively known as STEM.

Technovation[MN] is here to bring technology and entrepreneurial programs to girls to spark interest, build technical and entrepreneurial knowledge, and develop confidence. Thanks to sponsor funding, Technovation[MN] provides free curriculum, mentor guidance, educational resources, and encouragement for girls ages 10-18.

In recent years, teams of girls have developed applications to address issues in their communities such as sustainability, the planet, food waste, immigration, and energy. Technovation[MN] adapts to the changing dynamics of technology through multiple platforms focused on purposeful technology creation.

“I came to understand on a deeper level the power of teamwork, but also the immense power technology paired with business entrepreneurship has in solving our world’s issues. The fire within me is sparked!”
